

Elodie Details release gold and silver pacifiers

Having trouble finding that perfect gift for the apple of your eye? There are few beautiful and original options available for toddlers with a closet full of clothes and a bed full of bunnies. Elodie Details now tries to ease that trouble by transforming many young children's most treasured possession in to an exclusive piece of jewelry.

In the short years Swedish design company Elodie Details has been around they've made it their mission to create innovative and truly unique baby accessories. Linda Sätterström, founder and chief designer behind the brand tells the story;

- The idea for gold and silver dummies was there from the start, but it's taken a lot of time and effort to find a production method that corresponds to the high safety standards that apply. Our manufacturer ESSKA finally found the solution in a partner who had recently solved the same problem for LEGO.

The timing for finding this solution could not be better with Christmas sales just around the corner. Jewelry is always an appreciated gift, but young children has until now had to put up with uncomfortable and often unsafe trinkets.

- The feeling of jewelry has been important in the development. That is why the dummies come in these exclusive boxes. It emphasizes that the gift is something more than a dummy. We feel it's the perfect gift for the one year old that more often than not already has all he or she needs.

With a bling factor through the roof many mothers, fathers, aunts, uncles, god-mothers, grandfathers and others are sure to agree. Elodie Detail's Golden Edition and Silver Edition will be available from www.elodiedetails.com from late November and will retail at a price of around 45 USD per piece.
